Our history

Schmid + Mägert was founded in October 1956 by Abraham Schmid and Gottfried Mägert. They began with the manufacture of cable winches. This was soon followed by the in-house production of slurry piston pumps and bucket and manure spreaders. The first two-axle transporter "Eiger" was developed. In total, s+m produced around 400 of the legendary "Eiger".

Already in 1968: Schmid + Mägert took over the representation of Reform machines. s+m has developed into a modern and efficient company with 30 employees. s+m has been training young professionals for many years. Young people are constantly being trained as agricultural machinery mechanics and logisticians. s+m offers its customers a wide range of machines, equipment and services in the fields of agricultural machinery, stable and farm equipment, milking technology, repair and service.
